

CHASE FOR VILLA
COMES TO A HALT;
BANDIT FAR SOUTH

Army Officers Agree That Without Railroads Pursuit
Is Impossible.

STORY OF WOUNDS DOUBTED

Carranza Generals Convinced Rebel Is Badly Hurt, but Americans are Inclined to Suspect a Ruse; Hunts of Perching are Tied Now.

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., April 6.—The entire Mexican situation was revised in obscurity today as far as the border was concerned. For the last three days not a single Mexican or American has arrived here from the interior and the only news given out by the Mexican officials at Juarez is received by telegraph and thrown no light on the operations of the troops pursuing Villa beyond confirming the impression that the chase has been practically halted, at least temporarily.

Army officers here show no hesitancy in expressing their opinion that to attempt to pursue Villa further without the aid of railroads is almost a hopeless task, unless, of course, some lucky accident intervenes.

The one feasible factor is the question as to whether Villa is wounded or not. The Mexican commanders are emphatic in their assertion that the bandit chief is seriously disabled, but their belief is not shared by the American commanders.
That Villa should spread a report to the effect he had been shot is a characteristic of a man who has received with considerable reservation.

FINDS SMALLPOX VICTIM.

AT THE FRONT IN MEXICO.
General Pershing's Camp, April 3, via aeroplane and messenger, to Columbus, N. M., April 6.—An officer here tells how he retreated from a house where he was about to discover a Villa bandit. It was during the search of a mountain district where there was a suspicion that Villa might be concealed until his wounds healed.
Many houses were under search when this officer saw what he took to be a wounded man lying in bed in a room. He opened the door, pistol in hand, and hurried across the room.
The man in bed in the very poor light looked more than ever like a wounded bandit. The officer started to turn down the blanket covering the Mexican, but when he looked he found he had discovered a case of smallpox.

INDUANS TRAIL VILLA.

EL PASO, Tex., April 6.—Intimations in Washington that the Carranza government might soon indicate to the American government that the troops pursuing Villa were fully following a "cold trail" and that the de facto government would welcome the return of the United States troops to their own territory occasioned no surprise here today.

There have been incessant reports here that the de facto government indicated with disfavor on a further result of Villa because the presence of American troops on Mexican soil was proving an embarrassment. These reports could not be confirmed here, but the Mexican officials both here and in Juarez still the questions of a diplomatic nature must be considered by the government here at Queretaro.

Army officers here say that while the difficulties of the Villa hunt increase daily and that it may be weeks before he is taken the pursuit will be relentlessly continued until the word comes from Washington to withdraw the troops.

Twenty Apache Indians passed through here today enroute to the front where they will be to pick up Villa's trail. They made an unbroken ride of 89 miles from Fort Apache to Holbrook, Arizona, and then did a war dance before taking the trail.

MORE TROOPS TO BORDER.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—General Pershing today asked the War Department to send the recruits enlisted under the recent authorization of 20, 000 additional men to Brownsville.
Troops for distribution among the border patrol regiments. The recruits are being assembled and drilled at recruiting stations at Jefferson bar-acks, Mo., Columbus barracks, O., Fort Lowell, Col., and Fort Alamo, Cal.
They will not be sent across the border but will fill up regiments of the border guards.

At General Pershing's request a battery of the Fourth Field Artillery which had been ordered from Brown-sville to the Panama Canal zone will remain on the border.

Gets Leave of Absence.

Miss Frances Freed, teacher of German in the high school, has received a two months' leave of absence to take effect Friday. The latter part of next week Miss Freed will leave for Philadelphia for a rest and to receive medical treatment. The vacancy created by Miss Freed's leaving will be filled by Miss McLean of Pittsburgh.

Muddy on Schooner.

NORFOLK, April 6.—Reports from Swallow point say one man was killed in a mutiny on the schooner Maine of Baltimore, lying there. The United States marshal left for the scene in a launch.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS MORE EFFECTIVE IN ENGLAND NOW

Lens Zeppelin Which Attempts Fifth
Raids in Six Days Is Quickly Driven Off.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, April 6.—The increasing effectiveness of England's anti-aircraft defenses was demonstrated last night when the single Zeppelin which undertook the fifth raid in six days was prevented from penetrating the northeast coast and was forced to flee after the briefest visit of the kind yet made.
The night was clear, with moonlight and without wind. Searchlights discovered the raider coming over the sea and never once lost him during his stay. As he reached the coast he was firing comparatively low and the smallest gun found him with an easy target that he was forced to rise to a great height. The larger guns then found the range and, aided by the searchlights, they surrounded the Zeppelin with a terrific hail of shrapnel and high explosive shells.

After maneuvering near a northeast coast town for about 10 minutes during which only a few bombs were dropped, the raider was seen to turn and to sail homeward.

FRENCH GAIN GROUND.

PARIS, April 6.—The war office announced this afternoon capture by the French of a large portion of the positions north of Avescourt, known as "Square Wood." This ground was captured in the course of fighting which went on all of yesterday afternoon and last night in the Verdun region west of the Meuse on the Aco-court-Bellincourt line.

At one point along this line the Germans succeeded in penetrating French positions.

Two attacks were made by German troops against French positions north of Chiffert Wood, but they were without result.

SUBMARINE IS SUNK.

PAIRIE, April 6.—A German submarine was sunk today by a squadron of French and British warships, the ministry of marine announced tonight.
The crew was captured.

RECOVER STOLEN NOTES

Inspectors Get $5,000 of $100,500
Taken from Train.

By Associated Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 6.— John Richard Harrison, confessed train robber, accompanied by inspectors J. A. Mackey and Deputy United States Marshal Hubley, started this forenoon for Atlanta, Ga., where Harrison will appear as a witness against his two brothers, Charles and Jeff Harrison, his cousin, William Harris, Jr., and Benjamin McKee, all under arrest on charge of train robbery.

With Harrison's arrest Inspector Mackey recovered $5,000 of the $100, 500 in registered bank notes taken in the Central Station, W. Va., train robbery October 1, 1915. Harrison has made a complete confession, it is said.

PUT IN NEW GAS LINE

Company Runs Line Over Stockyard
Instead of Under.

The Fayette County Gas Company is erecting a new line south of the city, replacing the pipe which runs beneath the stockyards. These pipes were buried about 18 feet under the yards and the drainage of the animal pens had corroded them until they developed several leaks. Instead of putting in new pipes in place of the old ones, which would have entailed a great amount of labor, a tap was made each side of the yards and a surface line put in.

A new tunnel used in that section attracts much attention as the exhaust gas has been ignited and each puff of the machine sends out a vivid flash of flame.

WANTS ALIEN.

Woman Seeking Divorce Asks Husband to Foot Bill.

A rule was granted yesterday on George W. Whippley of Connellville in show cause why he should not pay his wife $200 claimed fees, $25 a week alimony and the costs of her divorce proceedings.

Mr. Whippley sets forth in her petition that her husband has made no answer in her petition for divorce and that she is without funds to proceed further. She claims her husband earns $185 a month.

MANY MINERS AT WORK

Two Thousand of the Strikers Who Point and Hammer Work.

NEW KENSINGTON, April 6.—Two thousand of the 8,000 miners in the Allegheny and Kiskiminnick valleys, who yesterday struck for recognition of their newly formed union, returned to work today, their employers having made that concession.

Organizers of the United Mine Workers are in the district.

SKETCHES OF NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS
ARE ON EXHIBITION

Architect's Drawings Show
What School Board
Hopes to Do.

ALL DEPENDS UPON BOND ISSUE

Combined Junior and Senior High School for East Side and Pine Central School on the West Side are Proposed; Future Needs Provided.

Sketches of the two new buildings which school board proposes to erect for the $250,000 bond issue is approved by the electors next Tuesday, were placed on exhibition in Hinson's window today.

The proposed combination junior and senior high school would take care of the present seventh and eighth grade pupils and the high school students. It would be 185 by 125 feet and contain 33 class rooms, two study halls, gymnasium, shower baths, lockers, swimming pool, complete manual training and domestic science departments, an auditorium seating 900 or more persons, offices for the school board, superintendent, principal and supply rooms.

The building would be throughout with indirect heating and fan ventilating systems. The cost would be between $170,000 and $175,000. The building would accommodate 1,000 pupils. With such a building Connellville would have a high school plant unequalled by any in the state.

The second building would replace the old Fourth street and Seventh street buildings on the West Side. It would have 12 class rooms, combined auditorium and gymnasium capable of seating 600 persons, stage, shower baths and all modern conveniences.
The heating would be indirect, with fan ventilating system. The building itself is estimated to cost between $55,000 and $60,000.

The sketches of the proposed structures show them to be of pleasing architecture.

TWO TONS OF CATALOGS

One Mail Order House Makes Big Distribution Here.

Two tons of mail order catalogs from a Chicago house arrived at the Connellville postoffice yesterday.
Catalogs traveled in a special car out of Pittsburgh. They are shipped by freight to the city and then mailed out to the various towns in this section. It keeps the parcel post department of the postoffice on edge to distribute them as each one of them weighs five pounds.

Two tons of live poultry catalogs means that over 1,000 mall order buyers here have in the semi-annual distribution of one house. There are several other big mail order houses which send a ton or more of catalogs to this city, despite the light of the local business men against mail order trade. There are about 2,000 families in the entire city.

eral weeks ago, have arrived. Assistant Chief of Police Bowers is wearing his today. The uniforms are of dark blue with brass buttons and double breasted coats.
Goldsmith Brothers furnished the new uniforms.

VAST SUMS FOR GUNS AND AMMUNITION ARE ASKED

House Gets Preparedness Measure Designed to Strengthen the Country's Coast Defenses.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—The third great element of the national preparedness bill, which was today brought into the House, is the largest appropriation bill ever reported, and the first of four annual measures under which it is proposed to spend approximately $100,000,000 for increased and modernized coast defenses, already officially declared to be superior to any in the world, and to supply an ample store of reserve ammunition for the guns.

In approving the bill the committee included in the bill are provisions for mounting 16-inch direct fire guns to guard New York, Boston, San Francisco and other great cities from long range naval bombardment.
Provision is also made for mounting 12-inch rifles now in reserve so they will have a range of more than 30, 000 yards or 15 sea miles. No ship could dive within that distance of the guns.

The plan will add 16-inch mortar batteries to the present 12-inch em-placements located 62 the increased armor protection of modern battleships. In addition it provides for 16-inch mobile howitzers and 14-inch guns on railroad cars to defend points not protected by established forts.

In approving the bill the committee
accepted almost without alteration a proposal of the War Department and the officers who have studied the subject of coast defenses for years.
The bill carries appropriations of $2,000,000 and additional authorized to reach a total of $24,280,000.
It is the first of the bills mapped out by former Secretary Garrison to cover a four year program of expenditure for the defense of the coast. The committee cut down the 1917 estimate of $25,000,000 to $24,280,000.
The committee cut down the 1917 estimate, however, it represents an increased expenditure over last year of $1,920,823.

TWO DARING HIGHWAYMEN

GET $15,000 FROM A BANK

Find Cashier at Houston Alone and Make Way With Big Sum.

By Associated Press.
CANNONBURG, Pa., April 6.—Two men robbed the First National Bank of Houston at Houston, Pa., near here soon after noon today of $15,000 and escaped in an automobile.

The money was taken from the bank, was alone at his window when an automobile drove up in front of the building. A man entered carrying in his hand a piece of paper about the size of a dollar bill and said to the cashier in front of the cashier.
On the paper was written, "Take a move and you will be shot." Mr. McNitt found himself being an automatically.

At the time the other occupant of the automobile had left the machine and made his way to the door of the cashier's cage, which happened to be opened. One of the robbers guarded McNitt while the other went through the vault. He collected $15,000 in bills, ranging in denominations of from $1 to $20, but did not touch $2,000 in gold and $1,000 in silver.

The men told McNitt to lie perfectly still, while they did, while they hurried to the auto and drove quickly away in the direction of Cannonburg.

McNitt gave the police an excellent description of the robber who faced him at the window.

OFFICIALS GET RAISE.

Salary Employees of the Baltimore &
Ohio Increased.

Salary employees of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad have been given an increase in pay. It is estimated that the increase will run as high as 25 per cent. Virtually all of the men on the payroll of the Connellville division who are paid by the month will benefit. From Superintendent Eaton down to the clerks.

No information has yet been forwarded from Baltimore as to just what the raise will amount to, and the bulletin is awaited with considerable interest among the men who are affected.

FEW VACANT HOUSES.

Real Estate Men Say Demand Now Is Brisk.

Real estate men report that the vacant houses in Connellville are rapidly being occupied. It is estimated that in the last week 30 houses were occupied and that only five vacancies, however, but indications are that these will be occupied very soon.

REVIVAL MEETINGS
BEGIN IN MANY OF
THE TOWN CHURCHES

Services are Started to Carry on the Work of Bob Jones Campaign.

SEEK TO INTEREST CONVERTS

Congregational Meeting Held in the Christian and the Presbyterian Churches; Methodist Revival Largely Attended, as Are Many Others.

Revival meetings to last a week or 10 days, and in some instances longer, were launched last evening in virtually all of the churches which participated in the Bob Jones campaign.
Reports indicate that the largest attendance was at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church, although other pastors declare they were well pleased with the interest that was manifested.

The individual churches will endeavor to interest those who will attend the meetings. The Methodist church will have a large attendance during the week. The Bob Jones campaign, and secure them as active church members. Each trail hiker who signed a card expressing preference for some particular church has been visited, while the cards of those who expressed no preference were divided among the pastors at a meeting of the Ministerial Association in order to systematize the canvass and avoid proselytizing.

The reports of the various organizations of the Christian Church, submitted at the annual meeting of the congregation held last evening, showed a gratifying increase in all activities of the church. To fill vacancies in the official board caused by the expiration of terms of service the following were elected: Elders, J. L. Karts and U.
O. Blain; deacons, W. H. Shawman,
C. V. Rouser, Jesse Barnes and S. B.
Buttermore; trustees, Dr. S. Stahl and Walter P. Schenck; church treasurer, George W. Stauffer; church clerk, J. C. Norton; financial secretary, Charles E. Beyer; missionary secretary, Harry Regoski; auditors, J.
McVey, Gray and J. Fred Kartz, ushers, Robert Norris, M. C. Norton, H.
W. Kewser, "Brother" Porter, and
J. A. Tresser, all of Moore Valley, Pa.

RUBBER HOSE MUST GO

Ordinance Will Prohibit Its Use for Gas Connections.

Rubber hose as a means of connecting gas stoves with the supply pipes must be abolished. An ordinance to that effect will be introduced in council today by Superintendent of Public Safety M. E. Pryce. This will supplement the efforts of the gas company to have nothing but solid connections for gas stoves.

The Fayette County Gas Company will not use the gas at any place where it has been shut off unless valves to which rubber hose cannot be attached are installed. There have been instances, however, where consumers took off the solid connections and still used the rubber hose, notwithstanding the fact that hose is more expensive than pipe.

A city ordinance will require all gas consumers to make solid connections in the interest of fire protection. This is one of the things that Superintendent Pryce is advocating with a view of reducing insurance penalties.

ISABELLA TAKEN OVER

By Hecla Coal & Coke Company Which Completes Its Organization.

The Hecla Coal & Coke Company has completed its organization by the election of T. H. Given, president of the Farmers' National Bank of Pittsburg, as president and J. H. Hiltman Jr., of the Hiltman-Neff Coal & Coke
Company as secretary and treasurer.
The directors, in addition to the two officers named, are C. C. Chubb, A. C.
Robinson of Pittsburgh, and G. S.
Harsh of Uniontown. This company was organized to take over the property of the Isabella Connellville Coke Company, consisting of about 2,000 acres of coal, coke oven plant at Isabella, station on the Monongahela railroad.

The transfer to the new company was made in April 1, by John W. Chaf-fant, John O. Miller and Arthur B.
Braun, who purchased the property for the bondholders of the Isabella Connellville Coke Company at sheriff's sale early last month.

DYNAMITE LETS GO

Youthful Experimenter Painfully Burned While Playing With It.

Hamilton Bryson, the 15 year old son of A. J. Bryson of near Leisenring No. 2, was severely burned about the face and arms about 5:30 o'clock last evening when a quantity of dynamite which he was experimenting with exploded.

It is said that Bryson was trying to set the explosive off by applying a lighted paper to it. Before he could get away the dynamite let loose, the flame from the explosion burning him severely and tearing the clothes from his body. Several caps which he had in his pockets are believed to have exploded. The explosive tore a hole in the ground over six feet in diameter and several feet deep.

Held Shooting Match.

Noah Anderson of this place shot against A. H. King in a clay pigeon shoot held by the Keystone League at Knoxville yesterday. Out of a possible 20, King got 18 and Anderson 15.
George Markler, whom Anderson was to have met, did not shoot, but referred.

ter, Mrs. C. J. Elliott, in Brownsville.

struction of an additional furnace.

OVER 95% OF CLAIMS ARE GIVEN THOMPSON COMMITTEE

Only a Short Time Will be Allowed for Others to Make Deposit; Itmarable Progress Made.

Up to and including yesterday the unsecured claims against J.
Thompson which have been filed with the Permanent Creditors' Committee had totaled $12,395,477.97, which is more than 95 per cent of all the claims known to be outstanding.
While no date has been definitely fixed for closing the books of the committee, it is probable that only a very short time will be allowed for persons to file claims who have not already done so. Ample notice has been given all creditors to deposit their claims and the committee is not disposed to defer the closing much longer.

Creditors who fail to deposit their claims will not participate in any of the benefits or advantages which will accrue to those who have accepted the terms and conditions of the creditors' agreement. Once the books are closed the committee will not reopen them, but will devote its attention exclusively to the interests of those creditors who have deposited their claims.

It is regarded as somewhat remarkable that the committee has been able to advance its work to the present point within the brief period of seven weeks since the date of the appointment of this body. It is usual that undertakings of this character require several months to accomplish what has been done in as many weeks.
This is accepted as an indication that the final success of the plan is well assured.

The ratification by the creditors of the appointment of the committee vested that body with full power and authority. It is expected that the committee will proceed within a few days to exercise its powers and succeed as rapidly as possible with liquidation of Thompson's indebtedness. The first step will be to pay taxes and interest which have accumulated during the past fourteen months or longer. Other details will be worked out as time and conditions warrant.

The Grim Reaper

FRED R. MOORE.

The body of Fred R. Moore, who committed suicide at Hagerstown, Md., by drinking carbolic acid, arrived at Dawson this morning and was removed by funeral director W. H. Parkhill to the home of the mother of the deceased, Mrs. George Moore. Private funeral services will be held from the Moore home tomorrow afternoon, followed by a private interment in Cochran cemetery. Moore was a diet accountant for the Western Maryland railway in Ridgeley and disappeared Saturday from Cumberland. The only motive known for Moore committing the act would be his over debts he had contracted in Cumberland.

On Saturday Moore left for his lunch at noon and did not return to the office in Ridgeley. Nothing was seen or heard from him until Tuesday when Master Mechanic Howard R. Night received a telephone message from Moore's brother, George Moore at Dawson, saying that he had received a box from his brother telling him that he had ended his life by drinking carbolic acid and would say goodbye forever. Mr. Night at once notified the police who were unable to find any trace of the missing clerk.

It is said that Moore sent postal cards to several of his friends at Dawson bidding them goodbye. The young man was at the Hagerstown Y. M. C. A. late Tuesday night and left a note saying that no one was to blame as he was desiring himself of his own free will, but did not state his motive. He also requested that his mother and brother be notified of his death.

EDWARD H. SNYDER.
The funeral of Edward H. Snyder was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence at Dawson. Rev. H. A. Baum, pastor of the Cochran Memorial Methodist Church at Dawson, and Rev. W. B. Purnell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated. The services were attended by many relatives and friends of the deceased. The interment took place in Hill Grove cemetery.

"All Bosh— Coffee Dosen't Hurt Me"

says the cynic—but, we live and learn and at some time of life many coffee drinkers wake up to the fact that the drug, "caffeine," in coffee is "getting them."

Headache, nervousness, biliousness, heart flutter, insomnia, etc., are often signs that coffee is getting in its work; and the growing knowledge of its true nature has led thousands of former coffee-drinkers to turn to

INSTANT POSTUM

This famous food-drink tastes much like mild Java coffee, but is entirely free from caffeine and other harmful elements ever present in coffee. It is made of whole wheat and a small portion of wholesome molasses, and permits Nature, unhampered, to carry on her work of daily rebuilding brain, nerves and muscle.

Postum comes in two forms. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled; Instant Postum requires no boiling—a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water makes a delicious drink—Instantly. Both forms are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

A HIGHER STANDARD SOUGHT

Closing Meeting of the Year, to be Held Tomorrow, Will Develop Some Interesting Discussions. Prizes to be Awarded and Speeches Made.

Special to The Courier.
ROCKWOOD, April 6.—The last monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the Rockwood High School auditorium at 8 o'clock on Friday evening.
Speaking and music will be featured of the evening, and the literary societies will hold a debate.
Discussion of possible first and second classes and an additional year to the high school course will be discussed at the meeting. It is thought that a trained nurse could be secured and with the aid of a physician, first aid classes could be formed during the summer. The most important discussion, however, will pertain to putting the Rockwood high school into the first class, by making it a four year school. Another course may at-so be added, that of domestic science.

A pendant will be awarded at the meeting by Professor Wolfersberger, and a silver loving cup given to the literary society with the most points.
A contest that has been on between Red and Blue teams will be decided.
The two teams canvassed the town for members to the Parent-Teacher Association and the team securing the most members will be declared the winner. The losing team will serve a supper to the winners.
Dr. George R. Spelcher will speak on "Some Considerations Conducive to Higher Citizenship." The Parent-Teacher quartet from Somerset will sing, and the high school orchestra will give instrumental music.

THURSDAY EVENING, APR. 6, 1916.

THE BY-PRODUCT DUGABOO.

The by-product coke oven at the steel plant has recently been the subject of the Conneltsville coke region, yet there is no reason to be afraid of it. After all it is only a means of making coal into coke. It does not furnish the coal. The Conneltsville region still has the most coke in the world, and that coal will continue to be sought for coke purposes whether it is coked on the ground or at the point of consumption. The mining of coal employs 80% of the labor at the Conneltsville coke plants, and consequently more plants equipped with mechanical drawers and loaders.

The announcement that the United States Steel Corporation will build an immense by-product plant at Conneltsville, having a capacity of 25,000 tons of coke per day, means a yield in coke of 17,000 or 18,000 tons daily, or approximately 100,000 tons weekly.

The H. C. Frick Coke Company is operating 15,000 beehive ovens in the Conneltsville coke region, with a capacity of about 245,000 tons weekly. When the Clairton by-product plant is completed and in operation it is possible that some of the coke ovens will be shut down, but the mines will continue to operate. It is natural that these ovens should be put out in the Lower Conneltsville region and the coal supplied from there since that is the most convenient point of delivery, there being a number of old plants in the Conneltsville region proper which it will be economy to operate until the coal is cleaned up because of the superior quality of the basin beehive oven coke, and possible for other reasons.

It is suggested, however, that the by-product plant at Clairton will not make any surplus coke, but will fill a new demand for furnace fuel. It will be remembered that the United States Steel Corporation is greatly enlarging its furnace capacity. A complete new steel plant is to be erected at Gary, Indiana, but we are not advised that it includes any more by-product coke oven construction. It is possible that the Clairton plant will provide some fuel for the Chicago district furnaces. Too, the furnace capacity of the steel corporation in the Pittsburgh district is to be increased, making new demands upon the Conneltsville region fuel supply.

Upon the whole it would seem that the Conneltsville region, and particularly that portion of it which is tributary to Conneltsville, has nothing to fear from the by-product dugaboo.

THE GRAPHIC DINOSAUR.

The Anti-Preparedness Party is carrying around the country a graphic illustration of its propaganda, a plaster cast copy of the prehistoric animal called the dinosaur, which it is claimed carried tons of armor and no brains, and was finally worn out by the weight of his preparedness and went into the extinct class.

The argument is not good. It is evident that the dinosaur without his armor would not have lasted as long as he did in that preying age. He perished from lack of brain rather than weight of armor. Had his physical condition been reversed he might have lasted longer. Witness the fact that many prehistoric animals not as well-plated as all, or in any manner protected from external attack, lived quite as long as the dinosaur and seem to have perished with him, probably in a great cataclysm of the earth's evolution.

Under other circumstances it seems reasonable to suppose that if the equipment of the dinosaur had been reversed, and he had been provided with a weight of brain rather than of armor, he would have been an honored citizen of the country today dividing the popularity of the elephant at the circus.

The Anti-Preparedness Party evidently believes that a nation endowed best with neither brains nor armor. It will be hard to convince the people of this fact, and the dinosaur is about the poorest argument that can be brought to bear in support of the proposition.

Some weeks ago a New Jersey silk manufacturer, whose employee made frequent and unreasonable wage and hour demands, offered to turn him out over to him to put it to suit, subject on the condition that they be him a reasonable interest in his testament. To date his offer has not been accepted.

Primary politics are assuming primary shape.

In England Lloyd stand for any old risk; in Pennsylvania, Lloyd don't stand for any risk, if it is connected with the school house.

The automobile revolver can be altogether too deadly.

Hon. Abraham Lincoln Kelster and Hon. Edward Everett Robbins will try another friendly bout for the Republican nomination for Congress in Westmoreland county.

The Salvation Army is entrenched again.

The resumption of street paving is another sign of spring.

Fayette county's $400,000 worth of new roads are involved in legal quibbles. It is proper that these shall be removed before action is taken. Therefore, let the court pass upon them without delay to the end that the improvements may be going.

What the School Board Proposes to Do With the Money

ARTICLE XI.

In case it is the will of the people to grant their School Board power to issue bonds in the amount of $250,000.00 for school purposes on Tuesday, April 11th, the School Board expects to build in the Fourth Ward, in the immediate vicinity of the present building, a combination Junior and Senior high school (that is the seventh and eighth grades of the entire town and the four years of the high school).

This building is to be of fire proof construction and modern throughout. It will contain thirty-three class and study rooms, Manual Training and Domestic Science rooms, an auditorium to seat 900 persons, a gymnasium, and a swimming pool. The estimated cost of this building is approximately $170,000.

It expects to remove from the Fourth Ward, the old Fourth Ward building recently officially condemned for school purposes. The children who have been attending the old structure will attend school in the present high school building. This building is large enough to house the children of this ward together with any increase for a number of years from the other wards.

On the West Side, the Board expects to build on the lot now occupied by the Seventh street school building, a modern fireproof structure containing twelve rooms, a combination auditorium and gymnasium, and shower baths. The estimated cost of this building is $60,000.

The School Board wishes to pledge themselves again that the bonds will not be issued until the funds are required, thereby saving considerable of the interest charged.

A QUARTER of a cup of Atlantic Rayolight Oil in the wash boiler and the white things will wash real white. And without a bit of back-breaking, Blue-Monday, washboard rubbing. But the use of Atlantic Rayolight Oil doesn't end with wash day nor with heating and lighting.

Hundreds and hundreds of women, practical, economical housewives, have written us that they simply couldn't do without it; use it every day in their housework, find it the finest thing to polish windows, to keep their sewing machines running smoothly, to clean painted surfaces and for heaps of other purposes.

But these same women buy Atlantic Rayolight Oil by name. They can't afford to take a chance on the nameless, unknown kerosene—their white things are too precious to trust to anything but the best, the finest kerosene and that they know is

It burns without smoke or smell, but with a clear, mellow, white light; burns slowly, too. It never varies in quality and so always produces identical results.

Tooth Loose? Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth, even just a little, see your dentist at once.

He will find conditions which you might overlook. He will find a gum recession, even though slight, where the gums have pulled away from the teeth. And he will tell you that you have the dread disease pyorrhea.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

A Little Bird Told Me—

that I'd never be smoke-wise until I got wise to "Tux." And now life is just one joyous pipe-dream! For "Tux" is packed so full of smiles and brightness that every luscious, long-drawn puff makes a fellow happy as a lark at sun-up.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

There are three reasons for the brisk, bracing, hustling vigor you get out of Tuxedo—(1) Choicest leaf; (2) Slow, perfect ageing; (3) "Tuxedo Process."

And it's the last that brings out the best that's in the other two!

For it's the "Tuxedo Process" that removes the final trace of harshness from the leaf and makes Tuxedo the mild-est, wholesomest tobacco in the world.

Millions of dollars have been spent in vain attempts to imitate the "Tuxedo Process." But not one of the imitations has ever approached—much less equalled—the "Tuxedo Process," which was discovered by a doctor. Tuxedo never bites your tongue, irritates your throat, or bothers your nerves—as a week's trial will prove to you.

CARUSO
World Famous Tenor says:
"Tuxedo completely satisfies my tobacco taste. It is mild and has a delicious flavor. Most important of all, from a singer's standpoint, Tuxedo does not irritate my throat."

Why You Should Take Chiropractic Treatment.

Because Chiropractic never fails to discover the exact nature of your disease, and its location. Chiropractic is a science based upon a correct understanding of anatomy and the nervous system. It is generally supposed that the vital organs, as the heart, liver, etc., are affected by the slightest provocation, while the spine is only affected by a "savage shock." Chiropractors have proven, on the contrary, that whenever the internal organs do not function properly that the spine is almost invariably at fault. The spine is the brain of the physical man. Just as the brain is the overlord of the mental man.

Do you have headaches, pains in back, rheumatism? Are you subject to colds, stomach trouble, indigestion, "colic," constipation, or nervousness, or, quickly, painlessly, and at small cost. Call and have your case receive a free diagnosis. R. L. Carson, Chiropractor, Second Floor, Woolworth Building, office hours 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., Tuesday and Wednesday; 2:30 to 4:30 P. M., Friday.

The decorations were in pink and white. There were 15 guests present with Mrs. H. Roy West and Miss Elizabeth Blocker as guest of town guests. Mrs. Brown was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, and the ladies did not forget Mr. Brown. Mrs. Brown had told her friends that her husband carried a lunch to his work as the ladies thought a very appropriate gift for him would be a dinner bucket and the largest one that could be gotten in Meyersdale was purchased and presented to Mrs. Brown for her husband. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

A NOVEL

GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN

COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY CO.

The darky's eyes rolled. "Matthias, Mitch Malcolm? Why, that ole Cunn-

"Have You Lost Anyone?" Asked Gerry.

not Stewart he's jes' so patchery parsimonious that he requires me to pay rent fo' havin' ma house on his lan', so I says to ole mammy, 'we'll jes' move this here residence on to a gentler man's lan', and Mitch Malcolm me'n mammy 'n the chile are jes' a-movin' it on to yo' ole cane field."

The Barbadian laughed a little dryly and shrugged his shoulders. The driver got down, protesting, and helped the curiously carry the house across the road, then the cab went on and soon turned up an avenue under a fern canopy of acacia flamboyants.

As they progressed, thick, twisting growths, spangled with brilliant blooms, walled in the avenue. The air grew cool but heavy with scents and the full-flavored spice of a tropical garden under a blazing sun.

The air made Gerry dreamy. He woke with a start when the Barbadian said to the cabman, "This will do. You needn't drive in. Wait here."

The cab stopped. Just ahead was the ruin of a great gate. The two pillars still stood, but they were almost entirely hidden by vines. To one of them clung the rusted vestige of a gate. Beyond the pillars there was a winding way. Once it had been a road continuation of the avenue, now it was but a tunnel through the densely crowded foliage. Along the center of the tunnel was a narrow path. When it was overgrown. The Barbadian led Gerry down the path.

They came out under a grove of mighty trees whose dense shade had kept down the undergrowth, and beyond the trees Gerry saw a vast, irregular mound of vines, with which mingled giant geraniums, climbing fuchsias, honeysuckle and rose. Then he spied a broad flight of marble steps; at one end of them an old moss grown urn, at the other, its fallen, broken counterpart. Above the mound rose the roof of a house; through the vines, as the two drew nearer, appeared shattered windows and a door, veiled with creepers.

The Barbadian went up the steps and tore the creepers away from the door. Then he drew from his pocket an enormous key. With a rump the lock turned and the door opened, letting a bar of light into a wide, cool hall.

Gerry followed the Barbadian through the hall to a broad veranda at the back of the house. A large living room faced on to the veranda. The Barbadian entered it, opened the French door windows and, dusting off two lounge chairs, invited Gerry to sit down.

Gerry looked around curiously. The living room was comfortably furnished. There were one or two excellent rugs on the waxed floor; a great couch, set into a bow-window; lace curtains, creamy with age; a wonderfully carved escutcheon in rosewood; a sideboard, round table and chairs of mahogany that was almost as dull and black as ebony. Over all lay a coat of dust.

The Barbadian walked to the round table and with his finger wrote in the dust, then he sat down in a worn and comfortable chair, a "companion" to Gerry's. He fell into so deep a reverie that Gerry thought he was asleep.

Gerry got up and walked around the room. His eye fell on the table. He saw what the Barbadian had written: simply the date of the day. But above the freshly written date showed another, almost obliterated. Gerry leaned over the table. He could see that a long succession of dates had been written into the thick-laid dust. Beginning with the fresh numerals staring up at him they reached back and back through the years till they faded away into a dim past.

Gerry tiptoed out on to the veranda. Before him was a ruined lawn, in its center a crooked dry, marble fountain. On to one side was a giant plane tree. From one of its limbs hung two frayed ropes. Against its trunk leaned a weather-beaten swing board. Under the ropes, a wisp of path still showed, beaten hard in a bygone day by the feet of children. Beyond the lawn stretched wide hummocky cane fields. They were abandoned save for little patches of cane here and there, bunched up against little hen coop houses.

"Get a home, boy?" Gerry turned and found the Barbadian standing beside him. "A home?" he answered, his thoughts flying to Red Hill. "I should think I have and it's a home." Gerry caught himself but not in time.

The Barbadian nodded slowly. "I know," he said, "you were going to say it's a live one. Well, as to that, don't you make a mistake. This home is alive too—just exactly as alive as I am, for I'm the last of the Barbados Malcolms."

"Home," he went on, "hasn't altogether a matter of cash, comfort and cool drinks. Sometimes it's just a gathering place for memories."

"There was a time when we whites stood fifteen to one over the blacks on this island. Now the tables are turned. A chap that only takes a drink every time he sees a white man would have to go to a mass meeting to get drunk. 'Lately they've been sending out scientific commissions from England to sit like cormorants on this mound in the sea. They say they're going to bring the corpse back to life I've been offered a big price for this old place but I'm not selling."

Gerry looked at the Barbadian's rather shabby clothes. "Why don't you sell if you don't want to work the place? It's worth money. I know enough to tell you that."

The Barbadian rested one hand high on the thick trunk of a wistaria. A slow smile drew the corners of his mouth. "Worth money?" he echoed. "My boy, not every man kills the thing that he loves best. This is my home. You read those dates written in dust and still you thought my home was dead. But it isn't dead. I haven't killed the thing that I love best. You can get cash, comfort and cool drinks anywhere else, but this home, this place that memories travel only beat on paths."

Even as Gerry picked his way back to the waiting cab he felt Red Hill reaching out for him, drawing him. And during the long, slow drive to the way he learned that he had passed the crossroads that had given so long a pause to his troubled soul. The Barbadian had opened his eyes. Doubt left him. There was but one road to the road back—and it was open. He wrote his cable to Alix with a firm hand.

The freighter reached quarantine after a quiet voyage twelve hours ahead of time and just at sundown. A tug hurried down the bay to tell them their berth was not ready. The freighter was forced to anchor at the mouth of the narrows. Gerry watched the lights spring out from the shadowy shores. They beckoned him to familiar scenes. Staten Island had been to his boyhood an undiscovered land and the scene of his first wanderings. Bayshore he knew through constant passing by. In the sky beyond it, hung the glow of the summer city, here and there pierced with the brighter flame of some grotesque monstrosity.

Up the bay the dark waters forked into two bands that lost themselves in a sea and sky of twinkling lights. He could just determine the sweeping arch of Brooklyn bridge and the presence of more than one new tower of steel that broke the ever-changing skyline of his native city and made him feel, by that much, forgotten and an alien. But from all the myriad lesser lights his eyes turned gratefully to the high-held torch of Liberty. Beneath it, the familiar, tilted diadem, the shadowy folds draping the up standing pose, the strength and steadfastness and the titanic grandeur of the statue, carried its message to him as never before. It became to him what its creator had conceived an emblem and the myriad little waves of the bay, rising to fling themselves at the feet of the goddess, became a multitude, eager for its slain ment, ready for sacrifice.

CHAPTER XXXIV

It was ten o'clock on a morning in early autumn when Gerry finally got true of the freighter, and took the ferry for the other side of the river. He had left all his baggage to be delivered at the house later. The morning was clear but sultry in the city the spate of summer days had settled down. People glanced at Gerry's heavy tweeds and antiquated hat but they did not smile for Gerry himself was such a sight as makes men forget clothes. The tan of his lean face, the swing of his big, unpadding shoulders, his clear eyes, carried the thoughts of passers by away from clothes and city things. They seemed to catch a breath of spicy winds from the worn garments that clung to the stranger's virile body and in his eyes they saw a mirage of far away places.

As Gerry reached his own house, he was outwardly calm, even deliberate, but inwardly, he was fighting down a turmoil of emotions. What was he to find in Alix? Had he anything to give in exchange? Had he too much? He climbed the steps slowly. His hand trembled as he reached out to raise the heavy bronze knocker. Before his fingers could seize it, the door swung softly inward. Old John bowed before him. For a moment Gerry stood dazed. The naturalness of that open door, of the old butler, of the cool shadows in the old familiar hall, struck straight at his heart with the shrewd poignancy of simple things. Old John raised a smiling face to greet him but down one wrinkled cheek crawled a surprised tear.

"Why Was He Waiting?"

Gerry held out his hand. "How do you do John?"

"I am very well today, sir," said John. "Mrs. Gerry is in the library. She told me to telephone to the club and if you were there to say she wished to see you."

Gerry was puzzled. Why should Alix think he would go to the club? He handed the butler his old hat and strode to the library door. The door was closed. Somebody said "Come in." The words were so low he hardly heard them. He opened the door, stepped inside and closed it behind him.

Alix, dressed in a gray blue and white housecoat, stood in the middle of the room. With her hand upraised the other outstretched, she seemed to be poised equally ready for a welcome or flight. Her eyes passed swiftly over Gerry's face, swept searching down to his feet and back again to his face. For weeks she had been waiting. Terrible things had come to her mind. Alan and Gerry with his heart less note had conspired to injure, to terrify her. All the joy she had looked forward to in Gerry's home-coming had turned into a bitter pain. They had not known on the hill how she was suffering. Only Kemp had seemed to understand a little and had brought his drop of comfort to her.

As her eyes searched Gerry the sense of impending calamity left her. He was well, well as she had never seen him before. Except for that he seemed almost weirdly familiar, as though only a good night's sleep lay between him and the morning of three years ago when he had walked her until she had fought back and overwhelmed him.

A hundred little differences went to make up this solitary change. The flush of too many drinks had given way to a deep healthy glow, the eyes were deep and grave instead of deep and vacant, the broad shoulders that had taken to hanging were braced in unconscious strength. Every line in the body that she had seen start on the road to greatness had been lined down. The body was no longer a mere abode for a lingering spirit. It had become a mechanism, tuned to expression in action. It was not the body of a time server. Alax's sole word of comfort came back to her. "I never thought the old Rock would ever loom so big." What force had done this thing to Gerry? She felt a pang, half envy, half remorse. If she had been wise less than that, if she had been merely sage, could she not have saved Gerry to himself and spared her faith the test of the three long years lost out of her youth?

Gerry stood erect by the door, one hand still holding the knob. Why was he waiting? Alax's raised hand went slowly out to him in welcome but he did not move. She smiled at him but his eyes remained steadfast and grave. A lump rose in Alax's throat and then, as pride came to her aid a flare of color showed in her cheeks. Her lips opened. What could she say to hurt him enough to pay him back for this added, unjust rebuff? She knew so little about this new Gerry. How could she wound him? And then he spoke. "Will you please sit down? There are things I must tell you."

Gerry had blundered on magic words. There is no moment so emotional as that a true woman will drop the impediments to sit down and listen to the words she has wanted to hear. Alax was a true woman. The flare died out of her cheeks. She sank into a chair beside the dully shining mahogany table and with a nod of her golden head motioned Gerry to a seat opposite her. She watched the easy swing of his body as he moved across the room. Gerry's mind was in sore conflict but a body in perfect health has a way of taking care of itself.

Gerry sat down and gripped the edge of the table with outstretched hands. He looked steadily into Alax's eyes. The moment he had foreseen had come. Alax sat in judgment. She planted her bare elbows on the table, laid one hand palm down on the other and on them both rested her cheek. Her head with its heavy crown of hair was thus to one side but also tilted slightly forward. That slight forward tilt gave strength to the pose and intensity. A curious, measuring look came into Alax's eyes. She was silent and she was waiting.

Gerry dropped his eyes to the table and began to talk. "The things I have got to tell you," he said "begin with that day—our last day. I went out and walked for hours and realized that I had been rough and unjust and to blame. I came over to the avenue and was standing looking at some flowers when you passed. I saw you in the plate-glass of the window. I turned around to make sure. I recognized your trunk. I followed you to the station. I saw Alan signal to you. I saw you get into the train."

Gerry stopped. His premise was finished and he found that he had no tongue to tell the things he had thought—the long argument of the soul. He realized that all that must be left out. He must confine himself to mere physical facts let them troop in in the order in which they had come upon him and his naked before Alax. She must dress them as she saw fit, as her sympathies and her indignation directed. He would give her but the ground-work, plain simple words such as he could command, telling the events that had come upon him and how he had met them.

Of the trip out he had nothing to say but of Pernambuco he told her in detail. Somehow it seemed the least he could do for the filthy and beautiful city that had given him an unquestioning asylum. He told her of the quay, the Lingueira, with its line of tall, stained houses, its vast plane trees and its cobbled esplanade, the strange way the city life was in perpetual review. His words came slowly but they left nothing out. Unconsciously he created an atmosphere. A light of interest burned in Alax's eyes. She saw the changing scene. It charmed her to restfulness as it had Gerry.

She smelt the stacks of pineapples, the heaped up mangoes the frying fish, and through his eyes she saw the blue skies dotted with white, still clouds and glimpsed the secret, high walled gardens with their flaming hibiscus, trailing fuchsias, fantastic garden cockroaches and dark-domed mango and jack trees. She sat with Gerry and, later, on the long slim coasting craft she listened with him to the creak of straining masts and stays and to the lap of hurrying waters. She followed him up the San Francisco felt his impatience with Benedito, took the little stern wheeler and learned the fascination of a river with endless, undiscovered things. They came to Piranhas. Here she felt herself on familiar ground. Letters from the consul's envoy had made this place hers. Unconsciously she nodded as Gerry described the tiers of houses, the twisted, climbing streets, the miserable little tin

Gerry told of the happy days of ponderous canoeing and of the unvarying strings of fish he fingered over those days. Thus far he had brought Alax with him. He felt it. Now he came to the morning when he must leave her behind. He told her of the glorious break of that day, of the sun fighting through swirling mists. She saw him standing stripped on the sandspit. She saw the sun rising heavily against the shore and his pilgrims' quest earnestly across a thwart. She knew that she had come to the moment of revelation. She breathed softly lest she should lose a word for Gerry was speaking very low. Then he showed her Margarita. Margarita as she had first seen her kissing and kissed by dawn.

A hard light came into Alax's eyes. Gerry felt himself suddenly alone. He went doggedly on. He told of the phase and the capture of how big the girl had seen the canoe drift out into the eddy and swirl out into the river and away. He told her of how they laughed and Alax shrank. Gerry paused his brow pained. He wished he could tell in words the battle of his spirit, the utter ruin of his downfall. He could not and instead he sighed.

BY-PRODUCT AND CRUSHED COKES AS SUBSTITUTES

For Anthracite Coal Will be in Much Greater Demand

IF THE PRICES ARE ADVANCED

In Which Case the Uses of the Hard Fuel Will Not Doubt be Considerably Lessened: An Opportunity for Increased Connellsville Region Trade.

The probability that any advance in the wages of the anthracite miners will necessitate, or be followed by, an advance in the selling price of the fuel to consumers has created some interesting questions as to the effect such an advance will have on the use of anthracite in place of coke. It would not doubt tend to a lessened use through the employment of substitutes, a condition which the producers of hard coal realize and which is giving them no little concern.

The Coal Trade Journal, in a discussion of the situation, points out that gas and oil would be more generally employed for heating and cooking and that gas house coke would be in more active demand. It sees what purposes "One of the newest features," says the Journal, "and which is likely to play an important part in connection with heating, as a substitute for anthracite in certain places, is by-product coke. One hears almost every week that something new is taking place in this particular line, that new plants or ovens are being projected, and of course, this being the case, there is some question as to the product of such plants, for which a market must be found. Already, there has been something done in the way of preparation of this particular fuel to meet the requirements of the domestic market, inasmuch as the product is considered to be in the nature of profit almost entirely, as the other products probably furnish a sufficient return upon the capital invested, it can readily be seen to what an extent the parties interested could push the sale of this fuel.

"We have left out of the case the question of natural gas which, of course, is largely used in some sections of the country and yet one of the latest of the items which comes to hand tell that preparations are being made for its introduction into the city of Baltimore. Altogether it can readily be understood why a word of caution as to increasing prices of the domestic sizes of anthracite was eminently in order."

While considerable importance is attached in this discussion to the possibility of by-product coke and other substitutes, it is not to be overlooked that anthracite coal among many users, the product of the Connellsville coke region does not seem to be taken into the reckoning. Crushed coke has been found ready market as a heating and domestic fuel. Its manufacture has been somewhat restricted largely because the producers have been more concerned about supplying furnace and foundry grades. In the Connellsville region proper no crushers are operated in conjunction with the beehive oven plants. More attention has been given to this branch of the industry in the Lower Connellsville, the Upper Connellsville and the Greengarden-Greengarden districts with the result that crushed coke has become an increasingly important item of production.

As a substitute for anthracite coal crushed coke has already found a large market. Under the incentive of increased demand, such as would follow lessened use for anthracite, the trade will no doubt expand considerably.

STUBBORN ECZEMA

HEALED BY AMOLOX

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some become discouraged and lose all hope of ever being cured. R. R. Frisbie, 187 Scremore St., Mansfield, Ohio, writes: "Our baby's face was covered with eczema scales, sores and weeps. She was a pitiable sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburgh doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time." Amolox ointment will quickly heal pimples on the face, red nose, and minor skin troubles. Chronic cases of dry or moist scaly eczema require both the ointment and liquid to effect a cure. At all drug stores. Trial size, 50c. Recommended and guaranteed by the Connellsville Drug Co., Connellsville, Broadway Drug Co., Scottsdale.—Adv.
